Truman said Helper got its name from the helper engines that pull the trains up the mountains hereabouts.

"I think the Republican party needs some helper engines," he said. "It would take a whole roundhouse of helper engines to get the Republicans elected."

"As for their candidate," the President added, "I don't think helper engines will get him out of the trouble he is in."

East Nebraska Braces As Cold Front Moves In

Eastern Nebraska was braced Monday night for the coldest temperatures of the season, but the readings were not expected to come near the mighty cool seven degrees recorded in Chadron early Monday.

The cold front, moving eastward across the state, was expected to hit Eastern Nebraska sometime Tuesday, but in the daytime when clear skies and a bright sun will allow the mercury to climb into the 50s.

At midnight Monday Sidney's 22 degrees was the coldest reading in the state, followed closely by Chadron and Lexington with 23, North Platte 25, Imperial 26 and Scottsbluff with 27.

In the eight hours between 6 p.m. and 2 a.m. the temperature in Lincoln dropped from 45 to 26.

Tuesday warmer air will begin moving into the west and north part of the state, with highs in that area in the 60s.

Lows early Monday in addition to Chadron were 10 in Sidney, 13 in Scottsbluff and 14 in Lexington, Imperial and North Platte.

The sudden cold snap, which set record lows for the date in some parts of the state, had Western Nebraska potato growers worried. The freeze struck midway in the harvest of 35,000 acres of potatoes.

But Potato Development Division Head Earl Barrios at Scottsbluff was quoted as saying it was too early to tell how much damage was done.

All the potatoes above the ground or otherwise exposed will be ruined, he said. He added that it will take 24 hours of warm, dry weather to determine how much damage was done to buried potatoes.

Use "Whole Hog" Phrase

"This means the full use of private resources plus a local, state and federal partnership here in the state of Washington and the Pacific Northwest rather than dependence upon a daily directive from Washington, D. C."

The phrase "whole hog government" studded his speech.

The Democrats, he said, are "obsessed with that idea."

"The whole hog theory is that the federal government must own and control just as many of our resources as it can lay its hands on," Eisenhower said.

In Spokane, earlier in the day, Eisenhower told his audience that the formula for prosperity were not invented by the Democrats.

Direct Attack

"After all," Eisenhower told an exuberant audience in Spokane, "there was a very prosperous United States here for a long, long time before we had the Fair Deal."

This was the second time Eisenhower executed his newest campaign maneuver—the direct attack on Truman.

He threw every punch in the book. He kidded the President on some points, poured ridicule on other of Truman's statements, and slammed home the reply, "sheer bunk," to still others.

Food Elements

Explaining that there have never been any food elements discovered which will protect the teeth, Dr. Jay said that "some people continue free from decay on very poor diets while others have decay on very nutritional ones."

The only fact of which scientists are certain, he said, is that sugar will lead to more decay in persons susceptible to decay.

Referring to fluoride in water, Dr. Jay stressed that the proper proportion must be used. Overfluoridation will result in some individuals having stained teeth, he explained.

However, he continued, "there is absolutely no toxic manifestation which can be attributed to fluoridation since the amount is so very small."

Dr. Jay and other Lincoln dentists attending the meeting said that Lincoln's fluoridation is about one third of the desirable amount.

Importance Of Fluoridation Told By Michigan Dentist

The importance of fluoridation of water in decreasing dental caries — tooth decay — was stressed Monday evening by Dr. Philip Jay of Michigan School of Dentistry in Ann Arbor.

Speaking at a meeting of the Lincoln District Dental Association at the Cornhusker Hotel ballroom, the professor of dentistry emphasized that the experimentation of fluoridation and tooth decay is the only phase of decay which has never been controversial.

Dr. Jay, who is also a member of the school's research department, pointed out that the maximum reduction in tooth decay take place in communities where the fluoride equals one part per million.

Safecracking Attempt Fails, But Elusive Burglar Escapes

A daring burglary in the business district at DuTeau's Used Car Building at 18th and O was foiled by an observant 19-year-old girl on her way home from work Monday night.

Miss Merle Mattox, 132 No. 15th, hearing a hammering inside the DuTeau building, stopped to see a young man in a denim cap and coat cutting at the combination safe with an acetylene torch.

Without being observed, she ran to her apartment adjacent to the DuTeau building and phoned the police at "about ten minutes before eleven."

Building Surrounded

A cordon of city police encircled the entire building within a matter of minutes, as patrol cars and motorcycles were called from all over the city.

While all entrances were closely watched, police scoured the huge two-story building from top to bottom—but to no avail.

The elusive burglar was not found in any of the dozens of cars and crannies searched by the police.

Dial Cut Off

The burglar, using the acetylene torch from the DuTeau garage, had cut the dial off the safe, but had failed to reach through the door, Lt. Paul Beave, in charge of detectives, said. No immediate estimate of amount of currency and valuables in the safe could be made. However Beave said that as near as could be determined early Tuesday there was nothing taken.

The lieutenant said the burglar must have been cutting for ten minutes.

John Burley, DuTeau office manager, told police that he did not leave the building until 10 p.m.

Police found a window wired shut with the wires loosely wrapped. Beave theorized that the burglar had loosened the wire earlier in the day to enter it at the time of the attempted burglary or had escaped from the wired window.

The torch was found by police near the safe with rubberized pipes leading to the pressure gas tanks in the garage partition just outside the door to office.

Foe Generally Repulsed In Biggest Push In Many Months

Chinese Open Reservoir Floodgates For Assault, But Water Rises Only Two Feet

SEOUL (AP)—Communist troops attacked across two-thirds of the Korean battlefield Monday night and early Tuesday in the biggest co-ordinated operation in many months.

They were driven back almost everywhere. But intense fighting for three or four minor hills carried on into the day-light hours.

The Chinese opened floodgates of a reservoir north of the battle-line for their assault on two major hills northwest of Chongwon.

Nearly 6,000 Chinese troops attacked the two peaks in the wake of the surging waters. But the river which coursed around the two hills rose only two feet, hardly enough to be noticed.

Allied defenders, fighting with grenades, fists and even stones, drove back the attackers.

(The Allied Eighth Army briefing officer, Maj. Louis Breaux, was quoted by International News Service as saying the assault may have no particular significance and does not necessarily signify the beginning of a major offensive.)

At the same time, the Reds punched at the U. S. Marine line at 13 points on the extreme Western Front near Korangpo and Panmunjom. The Communists seized a new hill north of Korangpo, swelling their captured outpost prizes of the past few days of intense fighting.

The two major assaults hit strongpoints on the Allied line east of Old Baldy. Nearly 2,000 Red troops were thrown into each action.

The Chinese hurled between six and eight company-sized attacks—each mounted by fresh troops—at the westernmost of the two peaks. For five hours the battle raged on the shell-pitted slopes, frequently at contact range.

"Hill Still Ours"

Then the action subsided, but at daybreak the Reds still were hammering at two outpost positions.

"The hill is still ours," an Allied officer said. "Our men made a magnificent stand."

A second Chinese regiment hit the Eastern peak at the same time.

It, too, was driven off.

South of Korangpo in the West, Korean Marines supported by tanks fought all night in defense of an outpost. They still were holding on at dawn.

U. S. Marines supported by tanks and planes tried to win back a Western Front hill Monday but intense Chinese mortar fire pinned them down 50 yards from the top.

The biggest naval air strike in months hit a sprawling Communist supply dump at Hoeyang, south of Wonsan on the northeast coast. Navy headquarters said 263 planes from the carriers Princeton, Kearsarge and Essex unloaded tons of bombs, rockets and jellied gasoline on the target.

Rock Island Centennial Is Honored

The Centennial of the Rock Island Lines and key officials of the railroad were honored Tuesday by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce at a public affairs luncheon with approximately 150 persons attending.

Luncheon speaker was William F. Peter of Chicago, the road's vice president and general counsel, who traced the historical development from a connecting line between the Illinois and Mississippi river to an 8,000-mile transportation system serving 14 states.

The rail dignitary referred briefly to the "artificial burdens" under which the rail industry is laboring today, including "overment subsidies to competing forms of transportation" and "payroll taxes, namely the railroad unemployment tax" which has cost the Rock Island $1,800,000 to date.

Little did the founders dream of these "artificial burdens" in overcoming frontiers as their lines moved westward, he said.

Chartering and financing of the line began in 1845, but it was not until Oct. 10, 1852 that the first wood-burning "Rocket" made its first run from Chicago to Joliet, Ill. By 1854 the railroad had reached the Mississippi and in 1856 the Rock Island built the first railroad bridge across the Mississippi.

In a race against time to reach Iowa City to obtain a $50,000 bonus offered by Iowa, the engine following the laying of the rails froze up in the Dec. 31, 1857 weather, but workers and the road's president inched the engine to the depot's platform with pinch-bars.

Growth of the Rock Island progressed through the chartering of 150 separate corporations, a common railroad practice of that era, said Peter.

Also introduced from the speaker's table were Gov. Val Peterson, Mayor Victor Anderson and Chamber President Emmett Jung.

Toastmaster was Ray Ramsey.

Schools Would Still Receive Proportionate Car Tax Share

The proposed constitutional amendment aimed at blocking loopholes by which many motor vehicle owners escape taxation has aroused in those interested in school financing a fear that it passed the amendment would take tax funds from the schools.

F. B. Decker, superintendent of public instruction, Monday received an opinion from the attorney general's office holding that the proportionate share of the property tax on motor vehicles.

Whether the aggregate in dollars the schools would receive would remain the same, the opinion said would depend on the action of the legislature.

Equal Percentage

Deputy Attorney General William Gleason held:

1. "The tax which the Legislature may cause to be levied upon motor vehicles shall be so distributed as to allocate to a given school district such percentage of the tax collected from the owner of a motor vehicle . . . as is equal to the percentage which the district will receive from the aggregate mill tax levied upon tangible personal property in that school district."

2. "In the case of school districts, the share of the tax apportioned to them could be used only for school purposes."

3. "If the motor vehicle tax received under the new law by school districts should not be approximately equal in amount to the ad valorem mill taxes upon motor vehicles presently collected for such school districts . . . then such districts will be obliged, assuming costs remain constant, to increase the mill levies upon tangible property" if no new source of taxes is provided.

The proposed amendment would allow the Legislature to decide how motor vehicles should be taxed, and how much.

"If the amendment is adopted, then it will be the people's will that the Legislature may direct the 'way' in which the necessary revenue shall be raised and, in considering motor vehicles as a source of revenue, that the Legislature shall be free to treat motor vehicles as though they were not tangible property, and therefore may devise a tax which may or may not include the element of valuation of the vehicle, and as an incident thereto may provide for collection of the tax whenever the vehicle is registered," the opinion continued.

The Nebraska State Education Association executive committee considered the question at a meeting here Saturday.

But aside from calling attention to the fact that the amendment could leave the whole matter in the hands of the legislature, the committee neither endorsed nor condemned the proposal.

County Press Is Honored In Newspaper Week Observance

The Lancaster county press was honored by the Lincoln Elks Club Monday night and was praised by speaker Henry C. Warner, Dixon, Ill., past president of the Illinois Bar Association, as part of the Fourth Estate in America that "will never be excelled."

More than 50 were at the Cotner Terrace observance of National Newspaper Week.

The press of this country, the Illinois lawyer said, represents and fosters the best efforts on behalf of this nation.

Honest Criticism

The newspapers, the past exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks observed, "have always welcomed honest criticism and always welcomed a laudable argument."

But the speaker wondered if the younger generation of Americans is enough interested in newspapers to justify the value of the newspapers. More young people would be better qualified, he said, if they read, in addition to the comics and sports page, the day's happenings, world events and editorials in the newspaper.

Then Warner launched into the social and economic freedoms that need not be protected by the newspapers.

"National bankruptcy," he declared, "is a far greater threat than the atom bomb."

The worst place in the world, Warner told the Elks officials and newspapermen, "is just beyond your income."

'Spending Billions'

"We are spending billions of dollars," he said, "teaching youth that the world owes them a living." Security in the manner in which it is being sought, Warner stated, is suicidal to enterprise.

He explained "that false theory never produced a land of the free or home of the brave" and may have contributed to the present rate of juvenile delinquency.

Standards Down

The moral standards in the United States have gone down from what they were a decade ago, the Elks official warned.

And he took a dig at the government officials, too many of whom, Warner said, are unimpaired of the Communist larcenies as

NOSE, THROAT, and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Defects Disclosed In Soviet's Economic Life

Waste And Shortages Are Cited

LONDON (AP)—The broadcast Monday of Georgi M. Malenkov's keynote speech to the 19th All-Union Soviet Communist party Congress in Moscow disclosed a wide range of defects in the Soviet economy.

In giving an exhaustive review of these defects, Malenkov, possibly the most powerful of the ruling Kremlin hierarchy after Stalin, plainly informed the Soviet Communists they would bear future responsibility for their correction.

He told them that the United States wields an ever-increasing threat of war over their heads and demanded strict supervision of all phases of Soviet life in an economic drive to raise the Soviet level closer to that of the U. S.

Many Sore Spots
The text of Malenkov's keynote address—the address heretofore given by Stalin himself—was broadcast by Moscow radio and monitored here. It took five and a half hours to read. In it Malenkov outlined an economic situation reflecting a considerable amount of confusion and a great many sore spots, such as these, in Malenkov's own words:

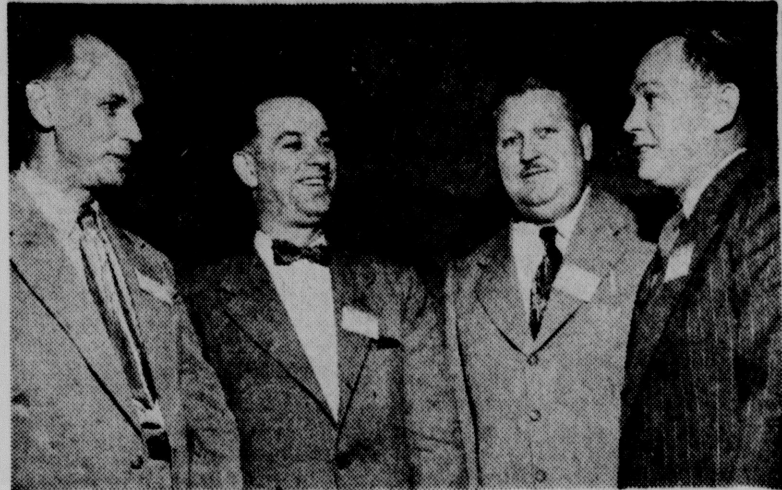

Industry: "Primarily there is great waste and unproductive expenditure in industry.

"Defective goods are still being produced. Losses and unproductive expenditure in enterprise of the union industry in 1951, for example, amounted to 4.9 billion rubles. The ruble is arbitrarily valued at 25 cents.

Badly Organized
Housing: "In spite of the big volume of housing construction, we still feel an acute housing shortage everywhere . . ."

Transport and communications: "Inefficient and excessively long railway transportation of goods has not been liquidated. The work of road transport is still badly organized . . ."

Labor productivity: This in-

Chris Jessen of Omaha is the new president of the Nebraska Licensed Beverage Association, formerly the Nebraska Beer and Retailers Association. He succeeds Mel Remender of Norfolk.

The annual convention of state beer and liquor retailers voted Monday to adopt the name of Nebraska Licensed Beverage Association, as an affiliate of the National Licensed Beverage Association.

Other officers elected were:

Henry Grenemeier of Lincoln, vice president.

George Greenblatt of Omaha, treasurer.

cludes comment on the speed-up or "socialist competition." "Soviet ministries are lax in raising labor productivity in weak sections of their enterprises and are too content with overall averages. . ."

Collective farms: The grain harvest was reported the best in years. The amalgamation of farms has reduced the number of collectives from 254,000 to 97,000 since Jan. 1, 1950. But Malenkov said there was a tendency of collective farms "to place consumer and welfare arrangements ahead of the main production tasks."

Cattle Death Rate High

Animal husbandry: "Through bad care of cattle, many collective farms have a high death rate among cattle and a low degree of livestock productivity."

The arts: There are serious shortcomings which must be remedied. There are not enough good films. Plays with conflict, yet depicting the "Soviet man" in the proper light, are not forthcoming. There is not enough satire.

The Soviet international trade offensive was underlined. Malenkov said the Soviet Union stands for development of trade with "all nations" and "peaceful co-operation" even with such countries as the U. S., France and Britain.

Omahan Reported In Good Condition After 2-Car Crash

Eva McGill, 47, of Omaha was reported in good condition and improving at Bryan Memorial Hospital late Monday following a two-car accident at Greenwood early in the day.

Six Omaha teen-age girls, riding a car driven by Beverly J. Tillman, 17, of Omaha, were shaken up but suffered no serious injuries.

Safety Patrolman Claude Whitney said the Tillman car was bumped from the rear by a car driven by William Ford, 46, of Omaha, when the Tillman automobile slowed for a grader working on a highway shoulder. The grader was being operated by Henry Birkholz, 47, of 4630 High St.

Shaken up in the Tillman car were: Pat Koppfe, 17; Rosemary Boyd, 17; Nancy Black, 17; Helen Menous, 16, and Carol Clausen, 16, all of Omaha.

That special section of The New York Times, handsomely illustrated and well written, which was a part of a great Sunday newspaper would not have been possible 20 years ago. It is the voice of a new Nebraska, a state still undergoing change as a result of pioneering in oil development, pushing ahead because of abundant electricity taken from its streams, and finally attaining greater industrial growth. Finally it has the best farming program in its 85 years of statehood.

There is so much on the favorable side of the ledger to be said about Nebraska that any reference to minor inaccuracies seems out of place. For example, this is the profile presented of the present-day Nebraskan:

"... It is the character of the people that is attracting major attention. That character is an intangible, even paradoxical, fiber of the spirit that seems to defy definition. Students of the plains area point out that when the first westerners emerged from the forest lands of the East, they found an entirely new and different world. The vast, wide open, rolling prairies first frightened the pioneer, then led him to a sense of the magnificence of his own being. As a result, his Nebraska descendant takes a particular pride in the job he is doing. The Nebraskan of today vests his job with dignity. He reasons: I am important, therefore the job I am doing is important. In order to survive in a rather harsh environment with his nearest neighbor often many miles away, the early Nebraskan became self-reliant and highly individualistic. At the same time he knew that in times of stress he could call upon that neighbor for any assistance; he knew the value of co-operative effort. Because most of the early settlers were property owners, a sense of conservatism became deeply rooted. At the same time, these people were not afraid of that which was new. In fact, they were forced to improvise and to adopt new techniques in order to survive in a land which was entirely different from anything they had ever known. As a result, they became highly adapted—both in mental attitude and in mechanical skills."

The average Nebraskan may experience some difficulty in recognizing himself in that mass of words. Actually few Nebraskans have the time to sit down quietly and analyze themselves at that length—who they are—why they are what they are—or what they might have been if they were not what they are. In short, we suggest that as a rule Nebraskans are not introverts, and to call them introverts might start something.

The people of this state are industrious. They enjoy their work. Generally they are creative. They are frugal, humble in spirit, simple in taste, and with them there still survives a great pride in achievement. Those are the qualities which characterize Nebraska and contribute to the strength of her people. We doubt that many Nebraskans have given much thought to the factors that have imparted a new vitality to this state. One of these factors is river basin development. The electricity which furnishes power for its new industries is drawn from the streams in a substantial sense—from the great dam on the upper Platte and from the hydro-electric development on the Loup. There you have a multiple-purpose program—storage of water for irrigation and for the generation of electricity.

We think it is true that the average worker in this state does not expect something for nothing. He believes in the dignity of his job, and in work well done. But we can over do this thing and we do overdo it if we seek to create the impression outside of Nebraska that our self-reliance and our conservatism lead us to reject federal money. We are no different from other states in that respect. We never miss an opportunity to get it when it's available. In the winter of 1949-50, we asked Uncle Sam to help us in the battle against unprecedented blizzards—as recently as 1952 we sought aid in the battle against floods.

More important is the fact that Nebraska has made great strides since 1930, unbelievable progress for which all of us should be grateful. And the best is yet ahead. There are potentialities still unrealized, opportunities still to be developed. We have the feeling that this is one of 10 states in the Missouri Basin destined to play an increasingly important role in the American story in the next 50 years.

Shooting For The Stars

It is a little bit difficult to explain why men gamble upon the icy, treacherous slopes of Mt. Everest, the world's loftiest mountain (accepted elevation, 29,002 feet; latest measurements 29,141 feet.)

The latest Everest expedition, a company of hardy, expert Swiss mountain climbers, is on its way, the tenth to undertake what heretofore has defied the bravest, the strongest, and the most dexterous. In one major particular, this Swiss expedition is different than its predecessors. Ordinarily the attempts to scale Everest have been launched in the spring. Those who know the mountain best have felt it is futile to attempt to maintain camps 25,000 to 28,000 feet above sea level in October. It is not only the cold at that altitude, the furious snow storms which arise without warning, but it is also the howling gales which sweep in from off the Indian Ocean.

No one has done better than Britain's George Mallory and Andrew Irvine. They were ever so close to success. That night that Mallory, an Oxford man, lay in a sleeping bag in his camp 28,500 feet up, he wrote a letter to his wife, a remarkable letter, so remote from the thought of this sputtering, quarreling old world. The next morning he and Irvine started early, were last seen apparently about 500 feet from the crest of Mt. Everest, the next minute hidden from view. That was the last the world has known of Mallory.

Some day Everest will be conquered, of course. Man keeps at it until he overcomes all obstacles. And then with Everest no longer a target for the intrepid mountain climber, the scene will shift to another area of the Himalayan chain where reputedly men have sighted peaks even greater than the present monarch of the giants.

Ike's $635,000 Book

Step by step on this page, Drew Pearson sets forth what he purports to be a ruling by the Bureau of Internal Revenue giving Gen. Eisenhower a classification of capital gains on his book, "Crusade In Europe."

It invites thought from all classes of people—Republicans and Democrats—partisans and non-partisans. The reason that it invites thought is that regardless of whoever becomes President next January, it is a lead-pipe cinch that a new revenue measure will mark the labors of the next chief executive and the Congress. That next tax bill is a "must"—a "must" which no longer can be ignored in the need for additional revenue for America's military purposes.

Pearson sets forth that in December of 1947, Gen. Eisenhower wrote to the Undersecretary of the Treasury indicating that publishers had urged him to write his personal memoirs of the war years, that he was anxious to comply with every requirement of the law, and likewise desirous of knowing whether the Treasury would regard a transaction whereby the publisher acquired complete rights to his book as a capital gain, since he was not in any sense a professional writer. Two days later he got the green light from the Treasury but only under the condition of holding the completed manuscript six months after its completion before selling it. Further correspondence set forth by Pearson indicates that great care was taken to incorporate in Ike's writing contract the clauses necessary to insure a capital gain tax.

The net result was that instead of paying on an income of $635,000 which would have fallen in the higher brackets, Gen. Eisenhower paid as capital gains on the basis of 25 per cent.

What will appeal to the American people as unjust is that this ruling, based upon a loophole in the revenue law, imposed a capital gain tax of 25 per cent where, in the daily experience of a salaried man, the average withholding tax, a graduated tax based upon the number of dependents and the size of the weekly paycheck, is around 20 per cent. The little fellow on a salary kept 80 per cent of his salary; Gen. Eisenhower pocketed 75 per cent of $635,000.

Congress broke its arm rushing to plug that loophole after the Eisenhower capital gains ruling.

It was a legal and at the same time a highly illuminating incident in these years of heavy tax burdens. The fight in the drafting of a new tax bill will revolve around the swollen incomes.

From Cicero To Normandy

A number of citizens who live in Cicero, not the largest but certainly one of the most famous Illinois cities, have launched a drive to change the name of their town and thereby bury its past.

And what is cited as the past that the officials, civic leaders and industrialists say they want to bury? It is the reputation of Cicero, gained during the peak of the prohibition era, when that town became known as the capital of gangsters, the hangout of hoodlums, the home of Capone.

Other memories, more recent and more poignant, come vividly to mind at the mention of Cicero. It was the scene of one of the most vicious race riots in recent American history, when a surly mob stoned the home of a Negro family and engaged in a disgraceful exhibition of America at its worst. That is an incident which should be buried most deeply, for gangsters come and go but intolerance has a way of sticking.

The new name suggested for Cicero is Normandy. It is a good one, suggesting a beach-head established during World War II, the opening of a campaign to defeat the forces of aggression, brutality and intolerance. Perhaps Normandy, Illinois, would provide a good change of name, but more important and vastly more desirable would be a change in the hearts of many of the people who live there.

The Blonde's Plea

Judy Holliday, the stage and movie actress who rose to fame as a "dumb blonde," saved her best line for an off-stage visit before a Senate committee. Asked why she had requested investigation of her past activities, Judy looked at her questioner and blithely responded: "I wanted to know what I had done."

Official West German sources, according to an item in the news columns, report that rifle training soon will be included in the curriculum of high schools in Communist East Germany. Thus do the peace-loving Communists instill a hatred of war in their youth.

DREW PEARSON

Ike Received $635,000 For 'Crusade In Europe'

LOS ANGELES—Here are the inside facts on Gen. Eisenhower's book, "Crusade In Europe," and the much-discussed capital-gains tax which the Bureau of Internal Revenue granted him.

UNDERSECRETARY WIGGINS
... a letter from Ike

After a preliminary talk with Internal Revenue, Eisenhower wrote a letter to Undersecretary of the Treasury Archibald Wiggins on Dec. 20, 1947 outlining the following facts:

"Certain publishers have urged me to write a personal memoir of the war years.

"The proposal is that the publisher take in one transaction the complete bundle of rights. The sale would completely divorce me from further control over the manuscript. It would produce no further income to me.

"I am not a professional writer in any sense of the word.

"I am anxious to comply with every requirement of the law."

Eisenhower then asked the question: "Will the Treasury Department regard this transaction as a capital gain or as income?" On Dec. 22, 1947—two days later—which was extremely fast action for the Treasury, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Schoeneman gave Eisenhower a reply. Ordinarily a reply on a matter of this kind does not come for a month—frequently longer.

Schoeneman wrote that Eisenhower's book looked like a capital asset transaction, but pointed out that Ike would have to hold the completed manuscript six months after its completion before selling it, if he was to get a capital gain.

Seven days later, on Dec. 29, Donald Richberg, a partner of Ambassador Joseph E. Davies who first suggested the capital-gains tax to Eisenhower, wrote Commissioner Schoeneman:

"I am acting as volunteer adviser to Gen. Eisenhower in regard to his memoirs."

Richberg then proceeded to raise some technical questions about the capital-gains tax, apparently to make sure that Ike's contract with the publishers would contain the clauses necessary to insure a capital-gains tax.

The general then waited nearly a year. In this time the book was completed, and, after completion, it was held six additional months. Then he wrote another letter to Internal Revenue. Commissioner Schoeneman replied, Dec. 7, 1948:

"You state you completed 'Crusade in Europe' on March 24, 1948, that you held the manuscript and all rights for more than six months after completion, and that on Oct. 1, 1948 you sold the book to Doubleday and Doran, Inc. ... All rights to the book.

"In view of the above you request that the gains be classed as long-term capital gains.

"This office will recommend the approval of a closing agreement on the following basis:

"The manuscript entitled 'Crusade in Europe' completed by you on March 24, 1948, was a capital asset within the meaning of Sect. 117 (A) (1) of the Internal Revenue code, and the amount of $635,000 received by you upon the sale of the manuscript constitutes a long-term capital gain."

TROUBLE IN KOREA

It has been carefully hushed up, but South Africa has threatened to pull her troops out of Korea. The reason, far removed from Korea, is racial segregation.

The threat will be carried out, Premier Malan has warned, if the United States supports the Arab demand for an investigation of racial segregation in South Africa.

The loss of the South African troops would have little effect on UN military strength in Korea. But it would be the first break in the united front, and a severe psychological blow.

Inside story is that the Arab nations—including also India, Pakistan, Indonesia and Burma—have asked the United Nations to investigate the South African policy of "apartheid," or discrimination against nonwhites.

This is a hot domestic issue in South Africa, so, in an effort to block the UN investigation, Premier Malan has resorted to diplomatic blackmail, threatening to pull his troops out of Korea and embarrass the United States before the world if we support the Arab move.

The issue is still hanging over the heads of the American delegation at the United Nations.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Illusion Of A Choice: McCarthy Or Stalin

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—An old hand in Wisconsin politics recalls vividly his first encounter with Joseph R. McCarthy. It was shortly after McCarthy became a circuit judge. He was introduced to some of the members of the legislature, who congratulated him on his success. His reply was as follows:

"That? That's nothing. In a few years I'll be a senator and not long after that I'll be President of the United States."

At the time it seemed pretty arrogant and somewhat humorous. But now with Joe McCarthy having made himself a national figure, the center of a fierce controversy within his party and in the nation, those words recalled across the years have a different sound.

Anyone who thinks McCarthy has forgotten this prediction or given it up simply doesn't know the senator from Wisconsin. He has made the most, both in the state and the nation, of his landslide victory in the primary. Now he and his fanatically loyal followers would turn the election into a springboard for McCarthy's next jump.

The goal is to re-elect him by the largest majority ever given a senatorial candidate.

The likelihood of that happening will be analyzed in a later column.

This would be proclaimed across the land and McCarthy would be on his way either to capture control of the Republican party or to become the leader of a new party such as that proposed by Col. Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune.

For McCarthy, in the view of those who have followed his career most closely, this is an interim election. Gen. Eisenhower is a political accident. Whether the critical weeks of the campaign in 13 or 14 other states. Certainly he is not doing that for Eisenhower. He is doing it for McCarthy.

The question that always arises is how he has gone so far, so fast. He will be 43 in November. The best answer this reporter has found in Wisconsin, where 515,000 citizens voted for him in the primary, is simply this: McCarthy has made it seem a choice between Stalin and McCarthy. And when that appears to many to be the choice, they will not pay much heed to the charges brought against him by the opposition.

Much has been written about the attacks on McCarthy that have come from outside the state. This is said to have fanned a defensive feeling so that even people who have thought that he was a so-and-so have said to themselves: "Well, anyway, he's our so-and-so."

Nothing could illustrate better McCarthy's extraordinary political powers; his capacity to turn black into white and white into black. He has spread the impression of a lone embattled figure, with most of the world arrayed against him, standing with his back to the wall. Every criticism—whether of fact such as the $10,000 payment from the Lustron Company for a booklet on housing, or of method and ideology—McCarthy characterizes as a left-wing smear, Communist inspired.

In the view of this observer, it could be demonstrated by actual measurement that the great preponderance of outside help has been on McCarthy's side. That would be true, certainly, of the circulation in the state of for-and-against material from the outside. One syndicated columnist not only championed McCarthy, but appealed to his readers throughout the nation during the primary campaign to send him financial help.

No one knows how much money has come in from outside for or against the senator. But certainly in their intensive campaign the Republican organization back of McCarthy in the primary did not lack funds.

It might, of course, have come from Wisconsin industrialists, most of whom seem to feel McCarthy is their savior.

In his rocketing career, McCarthy has been compared with many figures past and present. He has been compared with William Long, the Louisiana kingfish. But it is not an apt comparison. Long led his "every man a king" crusade with a program of economic change that for a time, at least, scared the wits out of industry and finance.

Those who fear and hate McCarthy inevitably raise the specter of Hitler. But as Hitler was missing in Germany, the Communist party was the second or third largest in the country, the middle class had been ruined by bushel-basket inflation, political riots were taking place everywhere, McCarthy, as one of his critics wryly puts it, has done so much with so little.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

A Wrestling Weimaraner Beats A Fox Terrier

CINDY ... the "grey ghost" wins all of the friendly bouts ... CHARLES ALLISON, 6, AND LUCKY

By JEFF WITHROW
Star Staff Writer

Cindy, a 3-months-old Weimaraner, is a big part of M. St. E. T. Allison's retirement plans. Allison, in charge of the Marine Recruiting Office in Lincoln, said the Weimaraner—one of the "grey ghosts" of the dog world—is a little too young to hunt this season even though she was able to retrieve a month ago.

"Next season, after I retire from the Marine Corps," Allison said, "the dog will have plenty of hunting."

Cindy, according to Allison, promises to be "one of the best hunting dogs I've owned." He claims it takes very little training to make the Weimaraner an all-around hunter.

At two months, said Allison, Cindy retrieved a trainer bird from the field like a veteran. "The dog could hardly get the bird in her mouth, but she brought it back," Allison said. Cindy's hunting ground will be in Kentucky where the Allison's plan to live after the sergeant's retirement papers come through.

The sleek grey animal was scolded only once for entering the dining room from the kitchen and consequently wouldn't enter the living room to have her picture taken without repeated coaxing.

To Charles Allison, 6, Cindy is a pretty good dog but she can't hold a candle to Lucky—a 7-weeks-old fox terrier who is the youth's personal property. The two pups, said Allison, resented each other at first but are "beginning to learn to live together now." They have outgrown a jealous attitude and now spend most of their time wrestling. Lucky usually takes the beating in the friendly bouts, but always comes back for more. The Weimaraner, called the newest of the sporting breeds in America, was achieved about 140 years ago through many crosses, with the old red Schweisshunde, similar to a Bloodhound, the major factor. Nobles in the court of Weimar in Germany manufactured the breed for all-around hunting prowess.

Great Books Programs

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In this column on Oct. 4, Mrs. Lewis expressed appreciation to The Star for its encouragement of the Great Books discussion programs. I'd like to second that.

The climate of Lincoln has not always been salubrious for cultural ventures, and it is a fine thing for you to help our city nurture this form of adult education. This puts us in a class with large metropolitan cities in this respect. H.R.R.

The Modern Bible

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: So the good old Bible of Grandma's day has had its face lifted, its wrinkles smoothed out, and is now in fit shape to compete with the general run of all antiquated mankind, to be sold in the busy markets of the golden calf's stock exchange.

The original cost of God's word was the red wool of a martyr's blood. For nearly 2,000 years the old family Bible has proved the beacon light to many a poor hungry soul. This Book of Books was in existence long before Luther or the wicked Henry VIII. It is a wonderful book, historical and romantic, and its literature can compare with its beautiful yet mysterious wording. Where is the theological scholar of modern day who can explain the Trinity, the Immaculate Conception, and the resurrection of the crucified Christ? Yet in faith alone on these miraculous happenings hinges man's only hope of salvation and eternal life.

Where is the old, heavy, gilt-edged family Bible of Grandma's day? You will find it in a second-hand dealer's shop, covered with dust and cobwebs. Today it is a sin to be old—gray hair and wrinkles are not conducive to a job behind the counter, and the Old Rugged Cross is fast becoming a cross of gold on which lust, selfishness and greed continue to drive the nails into the body of the lowly Carpenter of Nazareth. JOHN T. PECK

Remember The Record

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Millions of present-day Americans were yet unborn in the black Republican year of 1929 and millions were too young to vote in 1929, and to have first-hand recollections today of the Great Crash. Under Republicans we had as President, successively or unfortunately, floundering Warren Harding with his "back to normalcy" and the Ohio gang, "Silent Cal" Coolidge, and finally the "Great Engineer," Herbert Hoover, who was at the throttle when America tumbled into the greatest panic of all time.

Between 1929 and 1932, factory output was cut in half, the value of finished goods and services fell, profits disappeared, but Hoover resolutely opposed relief for the hungry and ill-clad. Older citizens will remember the now famous first hundred days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration. On March 4, with every bank in the country closed, Roosevelt assured the people that there is "plenty at our doorstep" and pledged "action now." Five days later Congress in special session needed only four hours to pass the Administration Emergency Banking Act and a few days later those banks began to reopen.

For the benefit of coming generations, let us keep this record in mind. J. R. FARRIS

Stevenson Gets Set For A Driving Finish In 25 States

Democratic Party Coffers Are Bit Bare, Wilson Wyatt Reports

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson drives into the windup of his presidential campaign Tuesday with a bid to voters in 25 states with more than two-thirds of the electoral votes at stake on Nov. 4.

The Democratic presidential nominee moves into the campaign finale counting on heavy help from President Harry S. Truman, but with party coffers reportedly a bit bare.

Stretching ahead of Stevenson are nearly 15,000 miles of travel, spider-webbing out from his home base here to both coasts and the Deep South. The Illinois governor will show up in around 100 cities for minor and major addresses.

DEMOCRATS
KEARNEY, Neb. (INS)—Stanley D. Long, Democratic candidate for long-term senator from Nebraska, continued his attack on Republican Senator Hugh Butler Monday in a speech before the Kearney Chamber of Commerce.
Long hit hardest against Butler's record of opposition to statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. Citing the Republican senator's recent criticism of the administration for its refusal to grant Alcoa a permit to construct large aluminum plants in Alaska, Long asserted it was a step in the direction of trying to grant Alcoa a monopoly on aluminum.
Said Long: "Such tactics are traditional with isolationist senators."
Appearing on the program with Long were A. Clifford Anderson, nominee for lieutenant governor, and Francis Lee, of Atkinson, who is running for congress in the Fourth district.
Long is scheduled to appear at a Chamber of Commerce meeting at Lincoln Tuesday. He will be at Wahloo Wednesday and at Falls City Thursday.
Two N.U. Staffers Will Attend Annual Ag Outlook Meet
Two staff members of the university of Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service will go to Washington, D. C., this month for the annual agricultural outlook conference. The meeting is scheduled for October 22-24.
The two are Richard G. Ford and Mrs. Clara N. Leopold. They will report to the remainder of the staff, including county agricultural agents, on the working conference. They also will prepare materials which may be used by other extension workers in presenting the information gained in Washington.
Ray's Auto Stolen
HOLLYWOOD (INS)—It was a crying Johnny Ray who reported to police Monday that his brand new luxury automobile was stolen while he was crying his heart out in front of customers.
Ray reported the theft after leaving Ciro's Hollywood restaurant where another big crowd applauded his weeping crooning.
Officers theorized the car had been stolen by a souvenir hunter with lordly tastes in automobiles.

REPUBLICANS
WILBER, Neb. (AP)—Rep. Curtis (R-Neb.) thinks Gov. Stevenson should ask President Truman to return to Washington immediately "and start cleaning up the mess."
"Mr. Stevenson admits there is a mess in Washington," Curtis said during a Republican Campaign Caravan stop here, "and he should ask the man who made the mess to clean it up if he is sincere in wanting good government."
"I know Stevenson finds himself in a terrible spot because he knows there will be no cleaning up with Truman and his gang around," he added, recalling that when the president set about to clean up New York's third revenue district "The man he picked to do the cleaning, James Johnson, was later fired for discrepancies in his own income tax returns."

MRS. JOSEPH P. LAFERLA

MRS. HARRIS CARNABY

Brides At Saturday Ceremonies

The marriage of Miss Patsy Joan Rook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Rook, to Joseph P. Laferla, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Laferla of Omaha, was solemnized at 10 o'clock, Saturday morning, October 4, at Blessed Sacrament church. White chrysanthemums and lighted cathedral candles decorated the altar, and pedestal arrangements of autumn-toned chrysanthemums marked the chancel steps, for the service, at which the Rev. A. J. Kraemer officiated.

A prelude of organ music and the wedding music was played by Miss Ethel Fritz, who also accompanied Miss Janice Wagner who sang, "Ave Maria," and "Panis Angelicus."

Miss Mary Laferla, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor and wore a danseuse frock of cedar green velvet and tulle. A shrug-stole of tulle accented the strapless velvet bodice, and the skirt was caught into extreme fullness. She carried a panier arrangement of rose shaded pompons. Frocked identically in gold velvet and tulle were the bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Roberts and Miss Kathryn Garrett, who carried bronze and gold pompons. The flower girl, Miss Janice Davis of Omaha, niece of the bridegroom, wore a gown of moss rose velvet.

Soft folds of tulle trimmed the fitted bodice of the bride's white imported lace and tulle gown. The long sleeves tapered to bridal points over the hands, and beneath the snug waistline, the tulle skirt flared into fullness. A coronet of seed pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a crescent of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Serving Mr. Laferla as best man was Rudy Nelson of Omaha, and the ushers were Robert Short, Craig, Mo., and John Schade, Enola. Ringbearer was Jimmy Davis of Omaha.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Laferla, who will reside in Omaha, are former students of the University of Nebraska where the bridegroom is a member of Delta Sigma Phi.

Chrysanthemums, in shades of gold, green and bronze, banks of woodwardia, and lighted candles in seven-branched holders appointed the chancel of the Central United Presbyterian Church in Omaha for the wedding of Miss Peggy Jean Marble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allwine Marble of Omaha, to Harris Lockwood Carnaby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Carnaby, also of Omaha, which took place on Saturday evening, Oct. 4.

The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Howard B. Dooley, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Council Bluffs, Ia., in the presence of 300 guests, and the wedding music was played by Milfred L. Mowers, organist. Mr. Mowers also accompanied Miss Kathryn Radaker of Wisner who sang, "Through the Years," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The attendants, Miss Marilyn McKie of Red Oak, Ia., the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Jean Loomis, Mrs. Robert Seitter, Mrs. Paul V. Shirley Jr., and Mrs. Vern E. Poole, appeared in identically styled frocks of tulle over taffeta—Miss McKie in forest green, and the maids in nymph and Nile green. The fitted bodices were designed with a halter neckline, the decolletage covered with tulle boleros, and the wide skirts of tulle over taffeta were in the ballerina length. Miss McKie carried a colonial bouquet of gold and green-tinted fuchsia chrysanthemums, while the maids' bouquets of chrysanthemums, tinted to match their frocks, were centered with lighted candles. Miss Jane Jackson and Miss Betty Anderson of Sioux City, Ia., lighted the candles, and the flower girl was Nancy Lee Gorton, Richard Peterson and Palmer Peterson carried the rings.

Charles Bresman of Moorhead, Ia., served Mr. Carnaby as best man, and the ushers included Clark Carnaby Jr., Boyd Carnaby, Lynn Eller of Denver, and Donald E. Bock of Storm Lake, Ia.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace on net and white taffeta. The molded bodice, fashioned with long, lace sleeves, and a deep V neckline, narrowed to a small waist beneath which the wide skirt was fashioned of taffeta, with side panniers created of triple tiers of lace, and was completed with a chapel train. Her chapel length veil of imported illusion was applied with Chantilly lace and held to the head with a coronet of lace and seed pearls. She carried a crescent bouquet of white fuchsia chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Carnaby attended Baker University, Baldwin City, Kan., and was graduated from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Carnaby also was graduated from the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Engagement Announced

MISS SHIRLEY BORCHERDING

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Shirley Borcharding to John Howard Watson, of Alliance, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Watson of Alliance has been announced. Miss Borcharding is the daughter of Mrs. Hazel Borcharding and the late Earl Borcharding.

The bride-elect was graduated from the University of Nebraska, where she served as president of Towne Club, and also from the Lincoln School of Commerce.

The wedding will be an event of October 17 at First Presbyterian Church.

Huskerville Club

The Huskerville Woman's club will meet on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Maurice Long, 23 A, for a covered dish supper.

Hostesses for the supper will be Mrs. Paul Shannon, Mrs. Peter Becker and Mrs. William Canaday.

TOWN TALK

TOWN TALK has it that everyone is busy this week, but that the social merry-go-round isn't quite as merry as it could be—There are numerous first-of-the-season organization meetings—there are guests—there are those who have dashed out of town for a day or two—or three, and there are parties, if one considers bridge clubs and such as parties—

WE DID FIND one honest-to-goodness party, however—that is the luncheon for which Mrs. Rolland Mueller and Mrs. Harry Good will be hostesses today when they entertain at the Lincoln Country club. Twenty-four guests have been invited for luncheon and an afternoon of bridge.

BEFORE WE go on to the rest of the news about town we thought we'd pass on a word or two about Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams—Mr. and Mrs. Williams, so we learned were in Rome last mid-week, and were leaving there for Paris where they will spend some time before going on to London from where they will leave for the States—Think we told you once before that Mr. Williams will come directly to Lincoln from New York, but that Mrs. Williams will remain in New York City for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Harold Palmer.

SUNDAY NIGHT brought Mrs. Gertrude Ellis, her daughter,

Mrs. R. H. McWilliams, and her grandson, Robert McWilliams, from Portland, Ore., for a brief visit with Mrs. Ellis's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Roper.

Perhaps we should say that Mrs. McWilliams and her son are making the brief visit—Mrs. Ellis plans to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Roper.

When Mrs. McWilliams and her son leave Wednesday for San Antonio, Tex., where they will spend some time before returning to Portland, they will be accompanied by Mrs. McWilliams's cousin, Mrs. E. G. Hodder, who has been spending the past few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roper.

LOOKING FORWARD to seeing his new sister, is the young Robert Simon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simon. The young lady arrived on Monday at Lincoln General hospital, but has not been named as yet. As you probably know, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simon are the paternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Neiman of Rochester, Minn., are the maternal grandparents.

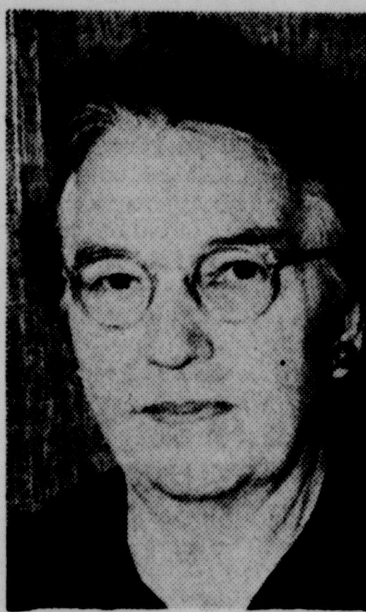

POTENTIAL travelers are Dr. and Mrs. John Peterson who leave on Thursday for Chicago, where Dr. Peterson will attend a medical meeting—There will be a few days spent in Ypsilanti, Mich., too, where Dr. and Mrs. Peterson will be the guests of Mrs. Peterson's sister, Miss Martha Curtis. From Ypsilanti on to the east coast—with a stopover at State College, Pa.; to attend the Nebraska-Penn State game on Saturday, October 18.

Guest Foursome

Corraling three small sons to pose for the photographer is no small task but it is one that Mrs. Robert Kreischer, the former Helen Jean Thomson, managed to accomplish. Mrs. Kreischer and the Kreischer small fry—James Peter, (Jeep for short) Robbie and Lawrence (from left to right), arrived from San Diego, Cal., last Saturday for a few days visit with Mrs. Kreischer's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. M. Thomson, and with Dr. Kreischer's father, Peter Kreischer.

To Be Speaker

MRS. DAVID CRAWFORD

Mrs. David Crawford of Crete will review the new book, "Wide Neighborhoods," by Mary Breckenridge, following the 6 o'clock dinner of the Alpha Omicron Pi Alumnae Club, Wednesday evening, at the governor's mansion. The book tells of frontier nursing in Kentucky mountains, a philanthropic project supported by Alpha Omicron Pi for the last twenty years, and to which the sorority has contributed more than one hundred thousand dollars.

The dinner will honor the pledges of the active chapter, and the hostess committee will include Mrs. Val Peterson, Mrs. R. H. Gilmore, Mrs. E. B. Schrepf, Mrs. Sterling Maus and Mrs. F. E. Epperson.

Ladies Day Out

The members of Ladies' Day Out will meet on Thursday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock at the YWCA for a fine arts program. Mrs. Eugene Hamilton, Mrs. Wesley Jespersen and Mrs. Harry Leeper will be the hostesses, and nursery care will be provided for the pre-school children.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

"What would you do," a mother asks me today, "if your daughter were in love with a man who is a perfect heel—sit on the sidelines and let him break her heart and wreck her life, or try to break it up by fair means or foul?" Well, what would you do? Here is the letter, and perhaps some of you may like to assist in the role of an adviser—

Dr. Minerva: I need your help and advice very, very much because I am just at my wits end trying to figure out a method of my own to save my daughter. What would you do if your daughter were in love with a man who is a perfect heel—sit on the sidelines and let him break her heart and wreck her life, or try to break it up by fair means or foul? We have tried to be reasonable parents. We have welcomed our daughter's dates and her friends to our home and have enjoyed having them. We have made every effort to treat her as an adult (she is nineteen) which of course she really is. But I mean that during her growing up we have included her in all family affairs, financial and otherwise. We wanted her confidence and her affection and until now I am sure we have had both. About six months ago she met a good-looking young man who is about eight years older than she. He drinks too much, doesn't keep a job for long at a time. He has lied to her time and again, never keeps his word to say nothing of promises. He is just the opposite of all the things she has known in her own home and among her friends, and yet she is wild about him. She excuses his lies, his drinking, his laziness with the statement that "no one ever has given him any encouragement." He tells her, and she believes it, that she can make a man out of him—that he will stop his drinking and playing around if he just had some one to take an interest in him. That is a line he has used on many another girl, a fact she well knows because the girls have told her. He tells her that the girls are jealous and are just trying to make trouble cause they were crazy about him. She believes that, too. There are so many reasons why she should not marry this man. We want our daughter to marry, have her own home, children, and a normal life that goes with a compatible marriage, and she will have nothing that is good with this man.

Now we know this young man pretty well, and there are people who know him much better than we do. We have been advised to offer him a little money and see how fast he leaves our house. That seems a pretty unchristian way to do things, and both my husband and I feel that our daughter would never forgive us if we chose that method. However, we are about ready to resort to almost anything to get him out of the way.

The Book that Conquers Fear

The false mask of evil's boasted power is torn off by Christian Science. No longer need anyone drink a dose of despair and live in fear. A great book containing the full statement of Christian Science, shows to any sincere seeker the way of liberation.

SCIENCE AND HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy

This book that conquers fear is studied together with the Bible—these are the Christian Science textbooks. New light is shed on the Bible. New hope is ours as we see how to find God's infinite goodness right where we are.

Multitudes have found release from every phase of human woe by studying these books in the new, clear light which Christian Science sheds at once on the problems of daily life. You can do the same and find freedom from fear.

Science and Health may be bought, read, or borrowed at While thumbing through our "Quick and Easy Meals For Two" written by Louella G. Shouler, we found a few suggestions for egging and crumbing food which we thought might interest you.

Except in the case of foods such as doughnuts, fritters, potatoes, and fried breads, foods are either egged and crumbed or dipped in a batter before being fried. This coating hardens in the hot fat and prevents food from the interior from becoming fat-soaked.

Use dry bread or cracker crumbs rolled and sifted, and coat the food in crumbs first, then dip in slightly beaten egg mixed with 1 tablespoon of water for each egg. Then coat very thoroughly with crumbs. If you are working with food to be fried, like croquettes, for example, it may be egged and crumbed several hours ahead of time.

Be sure to strain your fat after frying to remove food particles such as crumbs.

Basic And Beautiful

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Since even a sylph-like siren looks like a shapeless sack when she slouches on a seat or sofa, it's kinder not even to mention the lack of symmetry her more solid sisters attain in similar settings. That's a beauty twister no figure should suffer—and no eye should be forced to witness. It's so easy to achieve relaxing, graceful and eye-pleasing seated poses that after you try a few you'll find a sprawl as uncomfortable as it is graceless. And good posture is as important to the welfare of your looks, figure and health when you stand.

Often used by models, here's a basic, attractive sitting position on which you can build many variations of your own.

Standing as tall as you can, walk up to a seat of your choice so that you face it head-on. Without hesitation and simultaneously, clasp your hands palms up at waist level and wheel about until the backs of your legs touch the seat and your feet are together. With slow and smooth knee action, immediately lower yourself into the seat, letting your hands fall to your lap.

Your Posture

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy write to: Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover the cost.

Protected 1952 by John F. Dille Co.

When you have perfected just this much, you'll find that you look nice enough both in flight and when landed to meet the most critical inspection. Your feet will look more delicate if you draw the right heel into the left instep or slide the right ankle into the heel crook of the left foot. Your arms will attenuate all of your body lines when you drop one wrist over the arm of a chair or rest the back of one hand well down on the thigh and clasp the wrist with the other hand.

Working at a desk, riding on a crowded bus, holding a tete-a-tete—in myriad situations this position will single you out in the eyes of all as a lass with winsome ways!

Booming Gas Industry Halt Seen Unless Prices Hiked

Curtailing Of Service Is Predicted

Compiled from Wire Dispatches

OMAHA—Executives of the natural gas pipeline, distributing and producing companies agreed Monday that unless the Federal Power Commission allows higher gas prices their booming industry will come to a sudden halt.

This was the view expressed at a one-day panel of Members of the Independent Natural Gas Association of America.

Paul Kayser, president of the El Paso Natural Gas Co., and the association said this means service to the public may be curtailed.

J. J. Hedrick, Chicago, president of the Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, said that one of the principal factors responsible for the unavailability of natural gas to meet consumer demands in non-producing areas is the threat of federal control over production.

Hedrick told the annual meeting that because of this threat the producers in the southwest "apparently prefer to sell their gas when they have the opportunity in intra-state rather than inter-state commerce."

Russell B. Brown, Washington, D. C., general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said that to continue exploration and expansion production must be assured of a "continued market at a price that justifies the effort."

N. Bernard Gussett, president of the Iowa Power and Light Co., said the present situation of limited gas supplies and too many customers may be a temporary problem if all the gas industry and the regulatory bodies can get together rather than fight each other.

10 Cent Hourly Pay Hike Given Mill Workers

CRETE, Neb. (AP)—A strike at the Crete Mills ended Monday, four weeks to the day after approximately 110 employees left their jobs.

A new contract embodying a 10 cent per hour increase in pay was approved unanimously by members of the AFL American Federation of Grain Millers.

The wage portion of the contract runs for one year. The contract took effect Monday.

A profit-sharing fund maintained by the company was retained under the contract. The union had asked elimination of this fund and substitution of a 10 per cent pay increase. The company had offered a 7 1/2 per cent increase in lieu of the fund, but the final agreement retained the fund, in which employees share when profits reach a certain point.

Other features of the contract include 6 and 8 cents shift differentials, which the company earlier had agreed; 2 1/2 times the base pay for working holidays; double pay for working Sundays; three weeks vacation after 15 years, not after 10 years as the union had requested.

B. L. Johnson, company president, said nearly all of the workers were back on the job Monday. By Thursday, he said, the mills should be operating fully. Incidents had twice marked the walkouts, first on the opening day of the strike and then again last Monday when fisticuffing developed on the picket line.

Harold Tevis, Omaha, district representative of the union, and his brother-in-law, Carmen Bonacci, former Omaha policeman, are free on bonds after pleading innocent to assault and battery in connection with the incident a week ago.

CAMPAIGN IN CRETE—The Republican campaign caravan took office seekers Monday to Wilber, Crete and Beatrice to woo Nebraska voters to their side through a series of street meetings and chats with townsmen. Warner, running for re-election as lieutenant governor; Julia Wilder of Central City, a junior at Doane College and drum majorette for the Monday parade; Senator Hugh Butler, running for re-election to the U.S. Senate; and Dwight Griswold, running for the Senate short term on the November ballot. Iraq Officials Detain Omahan For Brief Time

NEW YORK (AP)—An Omahan man touring Asia in connection with the 15th International Congress of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Australia had a brush with Iraqi authorities, another member of his party disclosed.

Horace E. Henderson, national president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, said on Sept. 18 Myron Milder, 25, of Omaha, international director for the Junior Chamber in Nebraska was detained in Basra, Iraq.

Henderson said Milder was removed from the plane by Iraqi authorities after he had filled out a slip, with other passengers, on which he listed his religion as Jewish.

Milder was detained overnight under guard, Henderson said, and then flown non-stop to Karachi, Pakistan, where he rejoined the party.

Henderson said Milder was "treated well" and now is in Paris. When Milder returns, Henderson said, they will confer on whether a protest should be filed with the U. S. State Department.

TED BARGER

of Sidney was named vice president; add Charles Hageu of Norfolk was re-elected secretary.

The final day of the convention opened with a breakfast and discussion followed by a talk on inter-bureau problems by Ralph Kerns of Wichita, Kan. Kerns emphasized the need for better cooperation among credit bureaus in the state to speed movement of records and reports on credit seekers through the offices.

Mrs. Everett Ranney of Alliance, retiring president, presided at the general business session. John H. Murch of Englewood, Colo., spoke on the topic "Collection Business Is Interesting." Murch said the collection business is not the dog-eat-dog routine that most people think it to be. He said more often than not the collector acts as an adviser and counselor to people, to assist them in making their payments.

Don Puffer of Denver outlined the practical value of institutes in the overall picture of credit bureaus and collection agencies.

The agenda for the afternoon session included a discussion on Nebraska laws and cases affecting credit reporting presented by Lewis Ricketts, Lincoln attorney.

Another afternoon speaker was Walter L. Bowen of Denver, with a discussion of the role of his firm, a Texas company, in the credit business.

Registration for the 25th annual convention totaled about 65 delegates.

"Sure, I'll do my part!"

By voluntary action, this newspaper, its advertisers and you have helped to build a better America

WHEN Uncle Sam needs help, he appeals to you through your newspaper—and you always come through. He's had to do it often in the past 10 years.

That's why The Advertising Council was formed right after Pearl Harbor—to help get a thousand and one things done voluntarily on the home front. Public-spirited business leaders offered their services free. So did advertisers. And, as always, the newspapers were in the forefront. The job was done—and everyone knows how well. By popular demand, the public service campaigns of The Advertising Council were continued after the war. Through newspapers you were told about such peacetime programs as Defense Bonds, Forest Fire Prevention, Register and Vote, Community Chests, Better Schools, American Heritage, Care, Accident Prevention, Blood Donation and many others.

Every day, in many practical, productive ways, newspapers are informing and advising our people on what they should do to preserve and protect their way of life and their heritage of freedom.

The Advertising Council takes the occasion of National Newspaper Week, October 1-8, to salute this achievement as a wonderful example of American teamwork. It is a high tribute to the newspapers and their advertisers, who helped so much to tell you what needed doing. And certainly to you who did it!

State Car Insurance Rates Boosted

New insurance rates effective Monday for Nebraska were announced by State Insurance Director Loren H. McLaughlin. The new rates were drawn by the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau.

The new rates:

For private passenger cars the property damage liability rate increases 34.9 per cent in Omaha, 40.8 per cent in Lincoln, and 43.4 per cent for the rest of the state.

For commercial cars the rate increases are 38.7 per cent for Omaha and 16.9 per cent for Lincoln. For the rest of the state the rate is decreased 15.5 per cent.

In dollars the increases range from $3 to $9 which Laughlin said is less than increases recently granted in several surrounding states.

Bodily injury liability rates remain unchanged.

O MAHA Holy Name, the Class B defending champion, dealt the big blow of the week, overpowering Art Bauer's Sidney Maroons and knocking them from the top notch in the weekly ratings.

After skidding to two straight losses, the Ramblers took out their vengeance on Bauer's high flying eleven by a 20-0 count. The loss bumped the Maroons from their top perch to the tenth rung on the ladder. As a result of the win, the Ramblers moved into the top ten for the first time this fall, coming to rest in eighth place.

The Blair Bears also figured in the top ten ratings as a result of this inter-sectional upset. Knocking off Holy Name, 12-6, the previous week, the Bears took over the number five spot.

Aside from the Maroons' slipping to the lower rung, the top four teams in Class B advanced a notch while the top three teams in Class C retained their old positions.

The Broken Bow Indians, idle game with Minden because of last week after cancelling a polo epidemic, leads the Class B pack with three wins and no losses. The Indians have put away Lexington, Ravenna and Ord in order.

Cozad in the runnerup position, Gering in second and Wayne in third place, all coasted past their opponents in rare style last week. Of the three teams Cozad is the only one with a blemish on its record. The Haymakers dropped a 7-6 decision to the Class A Curtis Aggies in their third game of the season.

David City moved up to sixth place from eighth after dumping

Crete, 18-6. Tekamah received a scare from Lyons last week and dropped from sixth to seventh, to fill the spot vacated by York.

In the Class C circles, Cambridge racked up its fourth straight triumph by thumping Beaver City 34-0. Rushville still clings to the runnerup position after sinking Gordon 40-7, and Oshkosh is firmly entrenched at third after blasting Ogallala, 19-7.

The Pender Pendragons made a strong bid for the top notch by handily whipping West Point, 35-0. The win was the fourth straight for the Pendragons and earned them the number four slot.

Records Smashed

NEW YORK (INS) — Here are the World Series home run records broken or tied by Monday's game of the Yankees-Dodgers World Series:

Most home runs, both clubs, series: 14 (old record 12.)

Most home runs, individual, series: 4 by Duke Snider, Dodgers, (ties old record held jointly by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.)

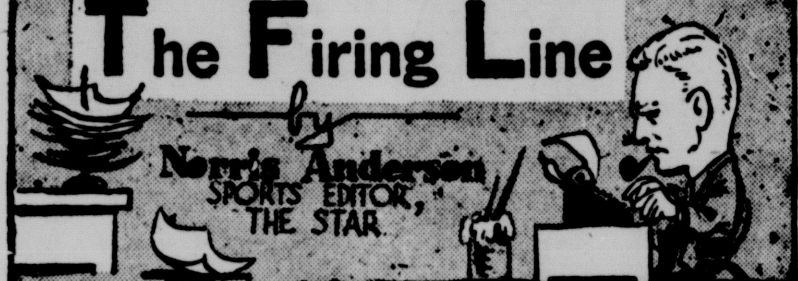

Most home runs, individual, one game: 2 by Duke Snider, Dodgers, (ties record held by 10 others.)

Rocket Reserves Defeat Beatrice Seconds, 26-7

Coach Ed Johnson's Northeast Reserves continued undefeated Monday as they downed the Beatrice seconds, 26-7. Ken Nelson proved the big gun in the Rocket attack, scoring three touchdowns.

Nelson added a point after touchdown on a run to make his contribution 19 points. Jim Lee scored the other Northeast touchdown and Dee Haas added an extra point on a dropkick.

The Junior Orangemen tallied in the first quarter and then were blanked as Northeast counted in every frame.

A Letter To The Huskers

HERE'S hoping you somehow get back that lust for combat that marked your Oregon showing.

Somewhere between Oregon and Iowa State Saturday, you lost your stomach for blocking and tackling.

You can't sit back on your haunches and stay on the same field with any of your remaining opponents, including Kansas State Saturday.

Every game has to be a "bear down" one from now on. There's no place for a let-up and certainly no place for missed blocks and sloppy tackling.

Your pass defense, so adept in the first two games, cannot afford to leak like it did against Iowa State. It all goes back to the best of all pass defense theories: Rush the passer and keep him worried.

The time for weighing your press clippings will come at season's end. Until the final game of that finale at Norman, Okla., Nov. 22, you can only judge yourself for what you are: A young squad who needs great improvement in all phases.

After Kansas State, there will come Penn State, Colorado, Missouri, Kansas, Minnesota and Oklahoma. There isn't room for anything except a chain of inspired performances anywhere along the line.

WE'RE betting you bounce back and block and tackle like your old selves Saturday. Like we said here the other day, your appetite for football is too lusty for any further let-ups.

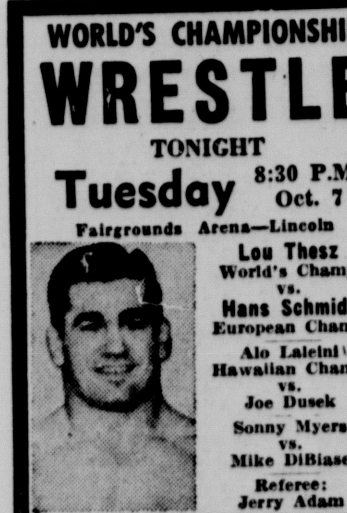

To Jim Oliver: Fella, you're too valuable a blocker to be booted out of any future games. Let's get hold of that temper and take it out on your foe in jolting blocks, not fists or elbows. You've come up the hard way and we know you like this game of football.

To George Cifra: We haven't seen a fullback bounce through the line and knock over the secondary since the Rose Bowl days. Congratulations on adjusting that downfield vision. You looked like you were heading for the goal every time you got the ball.

To the offensive line: Let's get more precision and more oomph in that blocking. There were too many Cyclones swarming over the ball-carriers Saturday.

To the defensive line: You were outgained many times Saturday, causing big holes through the middle. Get the jump on your opponent, or you'll be on your pantsleaves every Saturday from here on in.

That's the message. You have a long road left and the rocky parts remain. There is no place for a halfway effort.

Wisconsin Is Nation's Leading '11'

Spartans At Second In AP's Top Ten Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Wisconsin's poised Badgers, the current favorites to capture the Big Ten crown, took over first place in the Associated Press Football Poll Monday as the result of their impressive victory over Illinois and Michigan State's tight battle with Oregon State.

The Badgers jumped up from eighth place by whipping Illinois 20-6, while Michigan State needed a field goal in the final two seconds to edge Oregon State, 17-14. State, the pre-season pick of the experts to finish the season as the No. 1 team, fell from their first place perch to second.

Illinois, second a week ago, dropped clear out of the top ten to 13th place.

Wisconsin received 27 first place nominations from the panel of 138 sportswriters and sportscasters from coast to coast and a total of 1,128 points on the 10-9-8, etc., basis. The next three, Michigan State (24), California (23) and Maryland (22), collected almost as many first place votes but not as heavy support for second and third places.

State amassed 980 points, while California harvested 961 and Maryland 834.

Texas, fifth last week, plunged right out of the top 20 following their 14-3 loss to Notre Dame in Austin. The Fighting Irish, 19th a week ago, jumped to eighth place. Princeton, 61-19 conquerors of Rutgers, advanced from 13th to tenth.

In other shuffles of the leaders, California and Maryland swapped third and fourth places with the Far Westerners grabbing the higher place. The Golden Bears invaded Minneapolis and blasted the Gophers, 39-13. Maryland whipped Clemson 28-0.

Georgia Tech topped Southern Methodist, 20-7, and Duke jumped from tenth to sixth on its sharp 7-0 win over Tennessee.

Seventh place Southern California and ninth-ranked Kansas held the same ratings as week ago. Southern Cal blanked Army 22-0. Kansas downed Colorado 21-12.

The second ten was made up of: 11, UCLA; 12, Oklahoma; 13, Illinois; 14, Villanova; 15, Virginia; 16, Purdue; 17, Navy; 18, Alabama; 19, Georgia and 20, Penn State.

'Worst Thing That Could Happen To Us'

Wilkinson Bemoans Texans' Loss To Irish

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY—Notre Dame's defeat of Texas last Saturday is the worst possible thing that could have happened to us," Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson declared Monday.

Wilkinson, whose team meets Texas at Dallas this week, reminded the Oklahoma City Quarterback Club that "Texas isn't in the habit of losing two games in a row."

"If Texas had beaten Notre Dame, they might have been inclined to let up a little against us," Wilkinson explained. "But there's no chance of that, now."

Wilkinson disclosed that Roger Nelson, first string tackle, probably will miss the Texas game because of an elbow injury received in Oklahoma's 49-20 romp over Pittsburgh. "We don't know yet whether the elbow is broken," Wilkinson said. "If it is, Nelson will be out for the season."

Except for the usual bumps and bruises, the other Oklahoma players came through the Pitt struggle in good shape, the head coach said.

Texas Coach Ed Price, interviewed by telephone, told the Quarterback Club that if Notre Dame is beaten this season it will be up to Oklahoma to do it. Oklahoma plays Notre Dame at South Bend Nov. 8.

Bill Jennings, Oklahoma backfield coach who scouted the Texas-Notre Dame game, said the game could have gone either way. "Notre Dame just got the breaks in the second half and took advantage of them" he said.

LAWRENCE, Kas.—Coach Jules Sihl said Monday his undefeated Kansas football squad is in best physical shape since the season opener against Texas Christian.

Sihl said all of his regulars are expected to play in Saturday's Big Seven game with Iowa State.

A light drill in sweat clothes for players who saw action against Colorado last week and a short scrimmage for the reserves was on Monday practice program. Scrimmages are on tap for Tuesday and Wednesday.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—The University of Missouri football squad learned about new plays and new defensive formations Monday as Coach Don Faurot began to prepare his men for Southern Methodist's varied attack and defense which the Bengals face here Saturday.

Faurot said that Buddy Makin, halfback, who suffered a shoulder injury against Kansas State last Saturday, will be out of the game for several weeks, but that Bill Roweckapp, fullback, and Charles Bull, tackle, who had the day off Monday because of bruises incurred in the Wildcat game will be ready again against the Mustangs.

AMES, Ia.—Coach Abe Stuber Monday said he will not scrimmage his injury-ridden Iowa State football squad this week as they prepare for Kansas Saturday.

Stuber, who has more than a half a dozen of his first string players out with injuries now, said: "We're too beat up for contact work."

MANHATTAN, Kan.—With four players still nursing injuries suffered in the Missouri game, light warmup drills for those Kansas State gridders who didn't see action last Saturday made up Monday's Wildcat practice schedule.

Still on the injured list were End Jack McShulskis, Guard Tommy O'Boyle, Tackle Larry Hartshorn and Halfback Cecil Taylor.

BOULDER, Colo.—Four Colorado regulars did not suit up Monday as the Buffs worked out briefly and then viewed pictures of Saturday's game with Kansas.

Still nursing injuries suffered in the 21-12 loss to the Kansas were Tackle Jim Stander; Guard Dick Knowlton; and Backs Roger Williams and Zack Jordan. None was reported serious and all expect to see action this week end in a non-conference game with Arizona at Tucson.

Coach Dal Ward said Tackle Bill Allen and Halfback Ronnie Johnson, who did not make the trip to Kansas because of injuries, are expected to be ready for the Arizona game.

Rockets Get Toughest Workout With Hastings Here Thursday

By WAYNE PANTER

Star Sports Staff Member

NORTHEAST, slated to meet Hastings on the O. N. Magee Memorial Stadium sod Thursday night, got the stiffest workout of any of the Capital City's prep eleven Monday night.

With their practice time shortened by one day, the Rockets went through a scrimmage session in addition to the usual first-of-the-week routine of fundamentals.

Coaches Ben Galloway and Max Hester indicated that Northeast, after a disappointing showing against Lincoln Friday, would make up lost ground in this week's workouts.

Galloway said that Ron Steele, speedy senior halfback, would be lost to the team for at least a week. Steele suffered a bruised kidney in the city classic and spent the week end in bed.

The game was also rough on the Links. Dick Dinges, senior tackle, sustained a wrenched knee. An examination by his physician today was to determine the extent of the injury.

Coach Bill Pfeiff sent his charges through conditioning drills Monday night. Those who saw action against the Rockets scrimmaged while the others, who showed the effects of a tough ball game, took it easy.

Line Coach Ed Schwartzkopf indicated that Dick Skold, who turned in a creditable performance in his first starting assignment Friday, would be shifted from guard to tackle to replace Dinges if need be, and Bill Greiner returned to the guard slot. After an open date last week, Cathedral faces the prospect of a tough tilt against Omaha Holy Name, a fact which prompted Coach Vince Aldrich to keep the pressure on his squadmen last week after giving them a day off last Monday.

The Bluebirds concentrated on defense last week and got this week under way with a good scrimmage session. Aldrich said that two more scrimmages are planned for this week.

The squad is in good shape, Aldrich reported, but added that the Bluebirds will lose the services of Tom Hickman, who has started at end in their three games this season.

Hickman has been forced to give up football because of a lung condition which heretofore had gone undetected. He will be replaced by Rich Snyder, 150-pound junior. Mike Cowan, lanky sophomore prospect, will advance a notch to provide depth at the position.

College View takes a breather this week, with their Homecoming game with Cathedral on tap a week from Friday. Coach Tom Gillaspie said that the Viewmen did not practice Monday and would not resume workouts until Wednesday.

"Maybe it's what they need," Gillaspie said. "This will give them an opportunity to rest, get in a little extra concentration on school work, and in general get set for Cathedral." Blocking will be the big item on the Viewmen's schedule this week, Gillaspie said.

Church Volleyball League Formed

Volleyball teams from five Lincoln churches have entered YMCA Interchurch Athletic Council League competition, according to G. G. Williamson, council president.

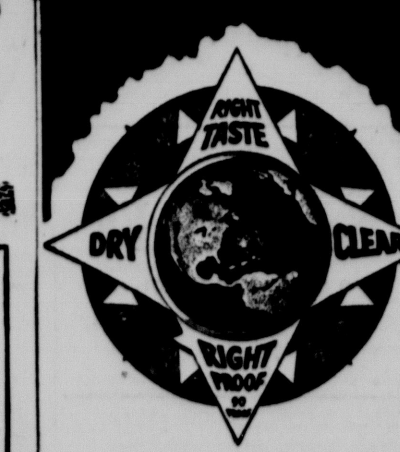

Entered on the one-game-a-week schedule are Second Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, First Plymouth, First Nazarene and East Lincoln Christian.

Six teams with from 10 to 12 members are expected to complete the league membership. The first scheduled game in the double-round robin series will be on Nov. 13. On Nov. 6 a volleyball clinic will be held at the First Plymouth Church gym.

there's a smart new twist to this tweed

it's a Kuppenheimer MacCrag Tweed

MacCrag's a tweed loomed from worsted twist—which means it's soft as down where it meets your skin, yet holds a press with amazing stamina. Perhaps it's the perky color combinations, or because the fabric tailors "softly" without any of the "bulky" look so often associated with tweeds, but the outstanding thing we've noticed about a Kuppenheimer MacCrag tweed is the instant, indelible impression of smartness it gives you.

Estimated Costs For Lake Cleaning Hiked To $5,000

Signers of a petition requesting the cleaning out of the 14th and Harrison lake appeared in person before the City Council Monday.

W. F. Steel, speaking for the group, said earlier estimates of $500 on the cost of the improvements were probably low and that the cost would be more nearly $5,000. Also appearing in favor of the lake cleaning was Wyatt Williams, living at 14th and Harrison.

The city engineering department reported it was currently making a study of the requested improvements. City Engineer D. L. Erickson pointed out, however, that the group had not only to consider the initial cost, but also the annual upkeep.

Ash, Sheaff Named To Aid Car Survey

City Councilmen Pat Ash and Roy Sheaff have been appointed to assist Councilman Clark Jeary in his probe of the city's car allowance system and car ownership.

The appointments were made on Jeary's request. Jeary stated that there is a lot of work yet to be done on the car study.

The councilman said he was investigating the possibility of renting some cars and doing away with the practice of paying mileage rates on the use of personal cars by city employees. He is also studying the possibility of a car pool whereby all city owned cars would be used jointly by all city employees.

$12,500 Added To Revised Light Program

A revised street light program for the 1952-53 fiscal year, adding $2,500 for new construction, has been submitted to the City Council by City Engineer D. L. Erickson.

The new program contemplates the expenditure of the original $16,300 appropriated for this year but allocates the money differently than originally set up in the budget. The original $5,000 for underground light system replacements has been to $2,500 and the balance added to the original $7,500 set aside for new light construction.

The Council took the plan under advisement. The only comment came from Councilman Clark Jeary who pointed out that, like the storm sewer program, some of the city's newly developed areas are being serviced before older areas that have been waiting for light for years.

Of the total $10,000 for new construction, Erickson plans to use $5,650 in placing lights where requested by property owners living in the vicinity. The other $4,350 would go for lights in two new additions, Strauss' First Addition to Cotner Terrace and Evans and More's Linwood Manor.

The two new additions would involve a total of 19 lights in Cotner Addition and about six in Linwood Manor. Erickson has recommended those projects because he said the developers involved have agreed to pay some $8,500 in excess of the amount charged to the city to get the job done.

The new light plan calls for installation of approximately 33 lights in other areas of the city. Fifteen would be placed according to the first place in the Engineering Department's priority list and 18 would be placed in areas of second priority and in the middle of blocks.

Besides the new construction, Erickson has planned $2,000 for overhead street light replacements, $2,500 for underground system replacements and $1,800 for new regulators, making a total of $16,300.

The $5,650 to be spent in various sections of the city represents only a start on the $12,545 needed to install lights in all places where they have been requested. A total of 58 street light requests are on file at the Engineering Department with 10 of them being recommended for deferral for lack of sufficient development in the area.

The following areas where street lights have been requested have been placed in the first priority list, recommended for construction this year:

18th and Calvert, 64th and Huntington, 38th and W., 37th and Melrose, 27th and Lafayette, 42nd and F., 73rd and Burlington, 2800 and 2900 So. 40th, 33rd and Smith, 42nd and E., 41st and Cleveland, 29th and D., 14th and Nemaha, 57th and Adams.
